To: Students taking AP SPANISH for the upcoming school year (2022-2023)
Señor Mancera

If you are considering taking the Spanish Language AP Exam in May 2023, there are several suggestions I have for you to help you begin to prepare yourself for the test.

1. Become familiar with EVERYTHING that is published on the AP website about this exam.
http://www.collegeboard.com/student/testing/ap/spanish_lang/exam.html?spanlang
2. Look at the tips that the College Board suggests for you:
http://www.collegeboard.com/student/testing/ap/prep_lang.html

ASSIGNMENT

Please write by hand a summary (200 words) in Spanish of what you have learned about this exam to me when you have done this. Include some ideas of how you will be able to study best over the year. You can also include your hopes, plans, areas of concern, etc. This assignment is due August 10 -2023

Once you have done these steps, you have a better idea of how to prepare yourself in the most efficient way possible. Here are some websites to help you:

1. You know that you have grammar issues to deal with (especially verb forms!) There is the ever-famous Barbara K. Nelson site that I just LOVE:
<http://www.colby.edu/~bknelson/SLC/index.php>
2. For listening comprehension of native speakers. On the site's opening page, you will find a pull-down window option for the level of speech to listen to. They go from beginners to a superior level. If you scroll over to the right after you select a topic to listen to, you will find vocabulary help, useful phrases, and grammar practices to accompany your choice. Then you can listen to a series of people talking about the same topic. In the upper right-hand corner, there are three boxes S E N. If you hit the S button, you can read along with the speaker. The E button gives you the English translation. If you hit the N button, you can watch and listen to the speaker without any text appearing. Try practicing first with all text turned off. You KNOW you will read along if the text is there! Feel free to play the clips more than once. At this point, you are just getting your ear attuned. Look at the faces as they speak. Look at the translations ONLY as a last resort. Keep track of the tasks you listen to.

3. Practice grammar and vocabulary by using these reading resources from the BBC Mundo and CNN websites. Make those websites as favorites on your computer. It has a wealth of information in Spanish that you will use:
<http://www.bbc.com/mundo> <http://cnnspanol.cnn.com/>

Espero que tengamos un buen año y trabajemos con empeño para sacar una buena nota.
