

Discovering Your Interests

When searching for a college major it's important to ask yourself whether or not a particular major is compatible with your unique abilities, interest, talents and values. Click on the links below to explore areas of interest and possible college majors:

Survey of Interests

MyCareerShines

ACT Map of Majors

Big Future Majors and Careers

College Majors 101

Princeton Review Majors

Personality Surveys/Inventories

What does your combination of personality traits say about areas of study and careers that would best fit you? Many common personality surveys are based on the Myers-Briggs personality inventory. Click the links below to view a list of personality surveys and inventories:

How to Recognize Your Positive Qualities

Myers-Briggs Compendium \(small report is free\)

Keirsey Temperament Sorter

Career Interests

Many surveys measure preferences and possible career matches. The State of Florida MyCareerShines website is one of many resources for exploring and learning about careers. While doing career exploration it is also important to consider your work values (sites below).

MyCareerShines

O\*Net Interest Profiler

Holland Inventory \(Rogue Community College\)

BLS Occupational Outlook Handbook

Career Values

Work Values Inventory